Press Release

11 March 2008

Manacomm to Supply Big W Retail Stores Nationwide

Manacomm, Australia's favourite software publisher today announced that it will now supply a selection of popular software titles through Big W retail stores nationwide.

The new collaboration between Manacomm and Big W will ensure that popular software titles including Trend Micro, Net Nanny and iPod Studio will now be available throughout Big W's 148 stores Australia wide.

The arrangement will continue to establish Manacomm as a software supplier of choice for retailers throughout Australia and ensure the continued growth and success of Manacomm products within the national retail sector.

According to Manacomm CEO James Mackay Big W offers a unique opportunity for reach and distribution while providing a wider consumer base for Manacomm products.

"We recognise that Big W represents a fantastic opportunity for continued growth within the retail sector" Mr. Mackay said.

"We look forward to developing our relationship with the nationwide chain. We are confident that this will be the beginning of a long and mutually beneficial business venture" he said.

Among other Manacomm titles, Big W will now supply a selection of top selling Trend Micro and Net Nanny software, providing greater access to Internet control and monitoring capabilities for a wider range of internet users.

Mackay said the selection of Manacomm software titles would enhance existing Big W software product lines and provide consumers with greater choice across a broader application range.

"We like the successful retail model offered by Big W and believe that it is a positive step for our continued growth" Mr. Mackay said.

"We believe that Trend Micro Internet Security and Net Nanny product lines, along with the Studio for iPod range will increase the software offering and present consumers with greater choice" he said.
