Jumbo signs SaaS agreement with RSL Queensland

Jumbo Interactive Limited (ASX: JIN or Jumbo) today announced it has entered into a long-term software license agreement with Returned & Services League of Australia (Queensland Branch) (RSL Queensland) to power RSL Queensland's flagship Dream Home Art Union lottery program.

The Dream Home Art Union is Australia's largest prize home lottery, generating around $200 million in annual ticket sales. Under the agreement, RSL Queensland will transition the lottery onto the Jumbo Lottery Platform¹ (JLP), an enterprise-grade, end-to-end digital lottery solution to support future growth, customer engagement and continuous innovation.

The agreement has an initial five-year term commencing from Q1 FY27, with options to extend for up to six more years. The fee structure includes fixed and tiered components, reflecting the scale and growth aspirations of the Dream Home Art Union. A modest upfront investment is expected ahead of commencement of the services with some of this expenditure likely to be one-off in nature.

This new partnership builds on the existing reseller arrangement under which Dream Home Art Union tickets are sold on OzLotteries.com. Moving to a SaaS partnership is a natural progression, strengthening Jumbo's roles in supporting some of Australia's largest and most impactful charity lotteries. With this agreement, Jumbo reinforces its leadership position in the domestic B2B charity lottery sector, now providing its platform to leading brands including RSL Queensland, Mater Foundation, Endeavour Foundation and Deaf Lottery.

Jumbo Managing Director, CEO and Founder, Mike Veverka said: "Jumbo first started selling RSL art union lottery tickets on-line in 2001. Twenty-four years on, I couldn't be more delighted to again partner with RSL Queensland on the Dream Home Art Union Lottery. It's an iconic program, and together we look forward to helping strengthen and grow the program to deliver even greater impact for veterans and their families."

RSL Queensland Chief Executive Officer, Rob Skoda said: "The Dream Home Art Union is a vital source of funding for our work supporting veterans and their families. Partnering with Jumbo gives us access to a contemporary lottery platform and proven expertise in delivering large-scale lottery programs. With Jumbo as our partner, we're confident the Dream Home Art Union program will continue to grow, enabling us to increase the support we provide to the veteran community."
